

THE TEA JOURNEY

Written in honor of Jyuichi Sato (Sojyu-Dad's Tea Name) October 8, 2005, three months after Dad's passing.

Wherever you have been, and whatever you have done, things completed, projects unfinished, sharing Tea is not about the past or about the future, it is not about accomplishment, ambition, possessions, but about a fragment of time where peace, serenity, and respect become One.

Whatever you have defined as your reality in time and wherever you have been where time has been a fleeting experience, right now the only thing that matters is the One.

Whoever you think you are, think you are becoming, think you can be, the only thing that really defines you is this One.

The Tea Journey is all of you placed in a moment, one time, one place, one encounter, one opportunity, one instance, one bowl of Tea, one scroll to look at, One.
